

New Health & Safety Accreditation achieved

Following many months of hard work, Building Product Design Ltd and its subsidiaries Glidevale, Protect, Passivent, Kingfisher and BPD Manufacturing Solutions have successfully migrated to a new international health and safety standard, introduced during 2018 to replace the OHSAS18001.

This is a huge achievement for the business as the standard is new and not many businesses are yet compliant. Congratulations to everyone who has been involved with the migration process and all those involved in the continued maintenance of our business health and safety standards.

This new health and safety standard joins the management accreditations that the business already holds, namely Quality (ISO9001) and Environmental (ISO14001).
